‘No one was ever killed by a fart’
Basically the very question I fired at my GP and anyone else that was terrorised by the 2020 convid plandemic.
We were all led to believe that what came out of our mouths could kill granny, while farts are harmless. My GP never did give me an answer and people I popped the question to just gave me a fluoride filled blank stare. I’d say, just stop and think where your fart comes from, just give it some thought, then explain why we aren’t harmed by these gasses we breath in. Haha, sorry, the headline just took me back 5 years.
After saying all that, a fart nearly did kill my grandmother once, she laughed so much she nearly had a heart attack!

Gordon says:

My philosophy is similar. Nature has looked after herself and the planet for millions of years and therefore needs no help from a species that has only been around for a blip in time. We only ever need to worry if the earth farts in our vicinity.
